

Humphrey Counts 63 Of State's 96 Convention Votes

DETROIT (AP) — Backers of Vice President Hubert Humphrey, jubilant after Michigan's Democratic convention Sunday, claim support from about two-thirds of the state's uncommitted 96-vote delegation to the August national convention.

Supporters of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy — repeatedly outvoted at the long, angry state convention despite an informal alliance with the smaller forces of Sen. Eugene McCarthy — disputed the Humphrey camp's figures.

U.S. Rep. James G. Ohara, D-Mich., chairman of the state's United Democrats for Humphrey, said the Michigan convention had elected national delegates likely to cast 63 votes for Humphrey, 18 for Kennedy and 2 for McCarthy. He said the other 14 were held by undecided delegates.

A Kennedy spokesman predicted the Michigan delegation would cast 49 votes for the New York senator, 45, for Humphrey and 2 for McCarthy, D-Minn. A McCarthy backer claimed "about five" votes.

O'Hara said the endorsement of Kennedy by Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh Sunday "possibly could cut very slightly" into the Humphrey margin. He said that of the 102 delegates, many of those closest to the mayor already had been counted as Kennedy backers.

An endorsement by Walter P. Reuther, president of the influential United Auto Workers union, could have a larger effect on the Michigan contingent at the Chicago convention, O'Hara noted. Reuther has not declared a choice in the Democratic race.

Disputes caused the convention to last more than seven hours. In order to adjourn at 9:10 p.m., the delegates took the unusual step of declining to adopt a state party platform. Several resolutions proposed by a convention committee were referred to the resolutions committee of the national convention.

Humphrey, the only one of the three candidates not campaigning for Tuesday's vital California primary, was the only one to put in a Detroit appearance. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., canvassed district caucuses in spacious Cobo Arena in an electric cart seeking support for his brother.

"I was greatly pleased by the reception and the open-mindedness of the delegates," he said. "We did better than we expected."

Kennedy aides charged the Humphrey people were using "the phoniest figures imaginable" to help create a national "bandwagon" effect for the vice president.

"They're taking everybody who isn't locked up for Kennedy as being for Humphrey," one said. "Hell, we could do the same thing and come up with the same figures."

The Kennedy-McCarthy forces were easily outvoted three times as the 2,305-delegate state convention seated delegations regarded as pro-Humphrey in two disputed congressional districts and adopted a Humphrey slate of four delegates from the bitterly contested 6th District.

The year-old Michigan Conference of Concerned Democrats (MCCD), a liberal group formed largely in opposition to President Johnson and the Vietnam War, locked horns with Humphrey backers in the 6th and the two factions, narrowly split, elected separate slates of national convention delegates.

The district's delegates, some of them veterans of shoving matches during a caucus Saturday night, caucused again Sunday. When the MCCD delegates walked out of the meeting, the convention voted to seat the four national delegates picked by the remainder.

Zolton Ferency, former Democratic state chairman and a favorite of the MCCD, was denied a place on the 24-member at-large delegation. An attempt to include him drew an unofficial total of 203 votes Sunday, compared with over 2,000 for each of the 24 candidates recom-

French Unions Shun Move To Resume Work

PARIS (AP) — The mass of France's 10 million strikers show no signs of budging despite an announcement from the government that a back-to-work movement is under way.

Workers have called off their strike at some small provincial factories. There was a possibility that postal service would be resumed this week. But other main sectors of the economy remain paralyzed as the general strike enters its third week.

There seems little chance that things will return to normal Tuesday after the three-day Pentecost weekend.

Public transport is still frozen, the schools are closed and industry is still. However, striker-employer negotiations are continuing in most fields where deadlocks has not produced a rupture.

Keep Talking

Representatives of striking railroad and urban transport workers kept talks going with the government though a union leader said the "restrictive attitude of the Transportation Ministry" was "inadmissible."

The railroad workers are demanding salary increases of up to 19 per cent for the lowest paid employees and 15 per cent for the highest paid.

Leaders of striking employees of the state gas and electricity works reported progress in their negotiations but said rank and file must have the final voice. However, the supply of gas and electricity has been normal throughout the strike.

The 280,000 postal workers decide today whether to return to work. They were to consider a "protocol agreement" reached in principle at a weekend negotiating session.

Talks with leaders of 600,000 other government employees had not yet produced any agreement.

Schools Closed

A spokesman for the union representing the nation's 600,000 teachers said the schools will remain closed Tuesday.

At the government radio and television networks, the principal demand of a new union of journalists and technicians was independence from the tight government control which President Charles de Gaulle's regime has exercised. The television network still was airing only news broadcasts by non-strikers.

Bank employees were to meet Tuesday to pass on a provisional salary agreement. If the agreement is accepted, the banks presumably could reopen on Wednesday.

Yankee Rocket Kills Six Saigon Officials

California Vote May Tag Nominee

WASHINGTON (AP) — A California confrontation that Sen. Robert F. Kennedy indicates could decide the fate of his Democratic presidential bid highlights a week of political activity including five state primaries.

Kennedy—following a nationally televised exchange with rival Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy on Vietnam, slums and other issues—said Sunday he has not decided what he would do if he loses the California primary Tuesday because he expects to win.

"But obviously," he said, "I have to look at the results of California very, very carefully."

Kennedy said he and McCarthy should join in a common cause against Johnson administration policy after California—and indicated his decision on staying in the race would be dictated by how he believes he could best further that cause.

"This struggle really must be with Vice President (Hubert H.) Humphrey," Kennedy said. "He represents the course that we have been following over the period of the last several years in the administration."

Kennedy was interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

In other primaries Tuesday: —South Dakota Democrats decide whether Kennedy, Humphrey or McCarthy will control the state's 26-member national convention delegation. Richard M. Nixon is opposed on the Republican ballot.

—New Jersey Gov. Richard J. Hughes has said McCarthy could win up to 20 of that state's 82 Democratic delegates. Sen. Clifford Case is a favorite-son candidate to head 40 unpledged Republican delegates.

—Incumbent Montana Gov. Tim M. Babcock is challenged by Lt. Gov. Ted James for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. Incumbent Democratic Rep. Arnold Olsen, seeking nomination for a fifth term, is challenged by Supt. of Public Instruction Harriet Miller.

—Alabama Rep. Armistead Seiden and former Lt. Gov. James Allen face a runoff for the Democratic nomination for the Senate seat being vacated by retiring Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala.

In California, McCarthy and Kennedy—and state Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch who heads an unpledged slate—are competing for 174 delegate votes in a winner-take-all contest.

Kennedy was the favorite but experienced observers were saying the primary could go either way, and some were pointing to the possibility that Lynch could beat both McCarthy and Kennedy.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan, as a favorite son, is opposed on the Republican ballot for 86 convention votes.

Democratic candidate Humphrey, meanwhile, picked up sizeable delegate support at state conventions in Michigan and Missouri over the weekend and Texas Democrats selected Lt. Gov. Preston Smith their gubernatorial nominee by a landslide.

Humphrey got at least 57 of Missouri's 60 delegates at a state convention.

On the Republican side, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was in Wisconsin today saying he realizes the state's GOP delegation is committed to Nixon but that he would meet with "friends of delegates."

Rockefeller repeated his contention that Nixon does not have the GOP presidential nomination sewed up and that the national convention will be open to other candidates.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said he would accept the vice presidential nomination if it were offered by the GOP presidential candidate—and said he felt Nixon was "99 and 44-100s per cent sure of getting the nomination."

New Viet Cong Troops Join In Fight For City

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Mission said today an American helicopter aiming at enemy gunners in Saigon probably fired the rocket that killed six high-ranking South Vietnamese officials at a command post Sunday.

As the latest wave of fighting in the capital area went into its 10th day, South Vietnamese military headquarters reported that 600 to 800 fresh Viet Cong troops had slipped into the northern suburb of Gia Dinh, 2½ miles from the center of Saigon.

The rocket decimated the top echelon of the Saigon city administration.

Four Wounded

Those killed were Col. Pho Quoc Chu, the director of the port of Saigon and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky's brother-in-law; Col. Nguyen Van Luan, the Saigon police chief; Col. Le Ngoc Tru, commander of Saigon's 5th Police Precinct; Maj. Nguyen Ngoc Xinh, chief of staff of joint operations for the national police; Maj. Nguyen Bao Thuy, chief of the Saigon mayor's cabinet and brother of the former minister of revolutionary development, and Lt. Col. Dao Ba Phuoc, commander of the 5th Ranger Group.

The wounded were Saigon's mayor, Col. Van Van Cua; Col. Tran Van Phan, chief of staff of the national police director; Col. Nguyen Van Giam, deputy chief of the capital military district, and Maj. Le Ngoc To, commander of the 5th Combat Police Battalion.

U.S. Ambassador Samuel D. Berger sent his "deepest regrets and condolences" to the South Vietnamese government and to the families of the officials.

Air Strikes Curbed

One officer said Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, ordered that no further American air strikes may be called in Saigon or its suburbs without his approval, but a U.S. military spokesman declined to comment on this.

The U.S. Mission said one rocket from an American helicopter malfunctioned and "there is a strong probability that the ... rocket which fell short of its target landed in the vicinity of the officials."

"Since there was firefighting involving enemy rockets in the general area of the explosion," the statement added, "it cannot absolutely be determined what happened."

Later a U.S. spokesman said a full investigation of the incident is being made. He indicated that disciplinary action might be taken against the helicopter pilot.

Newsman visiting the scene inspected fragments of a rocket which officers identified as the type used by American helicopters.

U.S. air strikes normally are called in by local Vietnamese commanders who certify the target area is under enemy control.

Steelworkers Seek 6% Pay-Fringe Hike

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiators for the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers of America, after weekend contract settlements with the major aluminum companies, today open contract talks covering about 480,000 employees of the 11 major steel producers in the most optimistic atmosphere in years.

The negotiations are between the 1.2 million-member union and the Coordinating Committee of Steel Companies, representing the 11 steel producers.

The negotiations starting today can set a pattern for members of the union not involved in the present talks.

For the first time, preliminary talks were held on local issues, and many were settled in six weeks of talks.

The Steelworkers' 33-man executive board, headed by union President I.W. Abel, met Sunday to plan strategy. Following that session, the union's 200-member negotiating advisory committee met. An aide of Abel said the committee meeting involved procedures, and there was no public announcement of what went on.

Johnson Intervened

The basic steel industry has not had a major strike since a 116-day walkout in 1959. The White House, however, has intervened several times in contract talks.

The current 35-month contract, which expires Aug. 1, was agreed upon after President Johnson intervened in 1965.

Although the United Steelworkers had signed a new three-year pact covering half of the nation's aluminum workers, the two aluminum giants—Alcoa and Reynolds—were struck during the weekend by the AFL-CIO Aluminum Workers union.

Alcoa—the Aluminum Co. of America—reported that half its capacity was halted. It is the nation's largest aluminum producer.

The United Steelworkers has said that in its negotiations with the major steel companies it would demand a pay increase of 6 per cent and fringe benefits. Wages now average $3.83 an hour, according to the union. The companies have said wages and fringe benefits combined total $4.88 an hour.

Aluminum Workers Balk
A union spokesman said the new contract with the five largest aluminum producers contained a wage increase exceeding the 6.1 per cent won in the can industry recently. After a nine-month strike, copper workers got an 8 per cent increase.

About the same terms were agreed to during the weekend by the Steelworkers Union, which represents half of the 60,000 aluminum workers, and the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers, which represents about 4,700 workers of Alcoa. The Auto Workers staged a one-day strike before settling late Saturday.

The Aluminum Workers Union, however, turned down the United Steelworkers formula, which usually sets the pattern for the industry. The smaller union called out 11,000 members at Alcoa and 4,000 at Reynolds.

New Hanoi Man; Demand Is Same

PARIS (AP) — A high-ranking member of North Vietnam's Communist leadership arrived to join the peace talks in Paris today and said the second phase of the conferences "can begin without delay" if the United States will drop what he called its "obstinate attitude" and halt the rest of the bombing of his country.

Le Duc Tho arrived here from Hanoi by way of Moscow where he conferred with Soviet leaders Sunday.

The talks here are scheduled to resume Wednesday.

U.S. officials are studying the possibility of a compromise with North Vietnam over broadening the scope of the Paris talks in spite of the deadlock on de-escalating the war.

Words Changed

The clue lies in a statement published two days ago in the newspaper Nhan Dan, mouthpiece of the North Vietnamese Communist party. Instead of saying the United States must agree to halt immediately all attacks on North Vietnamese territory, it says the the United States "must first of all clearly acknowledge its responsibility to put a definitive and unconditional end" to the attacks.

Members of the American delegation in the Paris conference are frankly not quite sure what this means but are slightly optimistic. They hope for clarification in the next session or two with the North Vietnam delegation. Ambassadors W. Averell Harriman and Xuan Thuy and their advisers will meet again Wednesday.

Bombing Is No. 1

Thuy, meanwhile is expected to get the latest thoughts of the ruling group in Hanoi from one of its top members, Le Duc Tho, who was dispatched to Paris.

Tho, a Communist theoretician, will serve here as a "special counselor" to Thuy. While he was stopping over in Moscow Sunday, the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda endorsed the peace talks anew and restated its support for North Vietnam's position.

Universities Must Change: Fleming

It's a myth that going to college will greatly increase earnings and it's nonsense to think that everyone should go to college for prestige purposes, the new head of Michigan's greatest university told a luncheon audience here Saturday.

Robben W. Fleming, new president of the University of Michigan, said that while college schooling certainly increases earnings in certain professions, machinists may make more than many college graduates.

"I'm not sure the question of schooling hinges on money, anyway," said Fleming. "There is nothing more tragic than parents insisting upon their children following careers for which they have no aptitude. The sons of lawyer fathers following the law and disliking it are unfortunate. They're Richard Rinehart, president of the Delta County U-M Alumni Club and of Bay de Noc Community College presided, Dr. Fleming said there is not an exact correlation between jobs and people.

Detroit now has a lot of unemployed and a lot of unfilled jobs, he said. Many jobs are unfilled because there are not the required skills. "We need skill training," he said "and in many cases it is not concerned with the university, but with technical ability."

Humanities Neglected

Are we training away from the humanities in the universities?

Yes, the humanities and the arts are being neglected. But in engineering, for instance, said Dr. Fleming, the demands of the curriculum are so heavy that few students graduate in four years even without much study of the humanities. The average is 4.6 years, because of need for all there is known about engineering today, and not because the students aren't bright.

"It is the same with medical training. The student becomes isolated from trends in society and ideally we should work this in."

Dr. Fleming made a strong plea for acceptance of Michigan as a national university, receiving more than $66 million a year from the federal government—more than it does from the State of Michigan. On this basis he urged understanding and acceptance of the out-of-state student without punitive tuition charges.

School Size

He said half the doctors that the U-M trains practice elsewhere, and that half of the doctors who practice in Michigan have been trained elsewhere. "If we could get the Legislature to divide graduate and undergraduate support we could make a rational scheme," said Fleming. "The graduate level is where the heavy federal support is."

He said that he did not believe that large size of the university created problems for students; that the significant thing was how the university made it possible for the student to identify with other students of similar interests. Surveys of departing senior classes showed they didn't want a smaller college (U-M has 30,000 on Ann Arbor campus and 37,000 on all campuses) or they would have gone to one.

Viet Vets Sign For More Duty

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — Two planeloads of Vietnam veterans, paratroopers from the 82nd Airborne Division's 3rd Brigade, received VIP treatment when they returned home this weekend for two-week leaves.

The 165 paratroopers have completed their Vietnam duty but have signed on to complete full tours there. They were processed quickly and issued partial pay, airline tickets and new khaki uniforms, with on-the-spot uniform pressing service.

Fleming Asks Students To Ease Race Tensions

MARQUETTE (AP) — Dr. Robben Fleming, president of the University of Michigan, called upon the graduating class of Northern Michigan University Sunday to help resolve racial tensions in America, which he termed "the greatest issue of our time."

"Those of us in the majority—who by accident of birth have white skins—have ignored the plight of our black brother," Fleming said during the NMU commencement address.

"We have been indifferent to his education, his housing and job opportunities and his access to the amenities of life which we take for granted," Fleming told the 513 seniors who comprised the largest NMU graduating class in history.

Four Honored

Fleming was one of four persons, including international newspaper and television magazine Roy Herbert Thomson, to receive honorary degrees. Fleming received a doctorate of letters.

A doctor of laws degree was conferred upon Thomson, a native of Toronto, Ont., who built a communications empire and was elevated to the peerage by Queen Elizabeth II on Jan. 1, 1964. He took the title of Lord Thomson of Fleet.

The citation with the honorary degree noted that Thomson, who will be 74 years old Wednesday, was a self-made man, who ended his formal education when he was 14 because there was little money in his family.

He worked as a clerk, salesman, farmer, stenographer and bookkeeper, before setting up his own small broadcasting station in northern Ontario at the beginning of the Great Depression. His efforts at selling radios and advertising for his station launched his career.

Thomson Cited

In recent years, he acquired the London Times and the Brush-Moore group of newspapers in the United States. He also owns more than 230 newspapers and magazines, plus television stations. They are in Great Britain, the United States, Ireland, Canada and Africa.

The citation also read in part:

"But his contributions to his own times are not solely measured by acquisition and growing wealth. His career has been an inspiration to thousands that success cannot be denied him who truly wants and works for success."

"He has shared his wealth and has enriched the lives of others through his benefactions, particularly the Thomson Foundation, a charitable trust of five million pounds. His passion for adventure, his ceaseless quest of the new, his sincere concern for the less fortunate have amply demonstrated that transcending all material things, a wealth of mind not going to be happy or productive doing something they don't want to do."

Fleming said that he favors community colleges; that they're making an enormous contribution to Michigan education.

University Must Change

"We've got unrest on the Michigan campus, as on all other campuses, and I hope we're going to be able to contain it," he said. "There are many things wrong at the university. Our institutions must change. How to change the status quo without violent upheaval is the problem."

"There are many difficult problems. For many there is no immediate solution, if there is any solution at all. We must have a period of adjustment and I'm sure the regents and faculty and administration all want changes."

"Young people are impetuous and have no context of history. Today's students don't like dormitories; they like apartments. This generation is wholly unconscious that their predecessors fought to have the university provide dorms. Such buildings don't come and go in 5 years."

Compulsion Repulsed

"If we built more dorms now we'd be out of our minds in terms of the wishes of the present generation, but we owe for those that are built—they're built with private financing—and so they can't be left empty. We may have to require students to live in a dormitory to pay off the debt. And that's 60 per cent of the route to not wanting to live there—just because it's required."

In Destructive Upheaval Church Sounds Spiritual Need

BOSTON — Today's world of destructive upheaval and tremendous change calls men to be spiritual builders. This appeal from the Christian Science Board of Directors was heard today by over 7,000 Christian Scientists, gathered here from around the world. They are here for the annual meeting of the First Church of Christ, Scientist.

The message, read by Arthur P. Wuth, new chairman, stressed individual effort as the first step in any attempt to help solve the world's ills.

Singling out war and racial conflict as two of the major problems which the church must confront, Wuth said:

"The Church must fulfill the requirements of peace by teaching the practicality of the great commandments — love for God and love for one's neighbor."

"Harmony, order, and peace know no color line. They belong to the spiritual heritage of each individual; and it is the responsibility of church to assert, demonstrate and maintain this standard."

Gordon V. Comer, newly-elected president for the coming year, said that whatever the turmoil of the present times, spiritual values and all the blessings they bring to humanity will survive.

The Christian Scientist visiting Boston this year noticed many changes resulting from the large building project now underway. Considerable demolition and foundation work has already been completed. Construction is expected to begin this month on a new administration building, a new Sunday School building and a large multi-purpose building.

At present the activities at the headquarters of the denomination are carried out in eight different buildings, so that centralization of facilities and personnel is long overdue. The new Church Center is expected to be under construction for about two and one half years.

Mining Firms To Aid Vo-Ed

Iron ore mines on the Marquette Range will make a grant of $100,000 in equipment to the proposed vocational-technical skill center for Marquette and Alger counties, announces the Marquette-Alger Intermediate School District and the Vo-Tech Executive Advisory Board.

The grant will be available by the iron ore industries if voters in the two counties approve millage and bonding proposals in an election June 10.

Firms participating are Bethlehem Steel Corp., Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co., Ford Motor Co., Inland Steel Co., International Harvester Co., Jones & Laughlin Steel Co., McLouth Steel Corp., Republic Steel Corp., and Wheeling Steel Corp.

If approved by voters, the area skill center would offer training in over 50 vocational-technical courses to 11th and 12th graders in both the public and parochial schools of the two counties. It would also provide job training and re-training for adults.

A recent survey conducted by the skill center promotion committee showed that over 50 per cent of the high school students in Marquette and Alger counties said they would attend the skill center.

The center would be mainly geared to provide intensified vo-tech training for all types of students who intend to enter the labor force upon graduation from high school. It also could be attended by students planning to enter college.

Movies And Morals

A mother has written to this newspaper:

"I am a mother of four children with whom I am having a little trouble about movies.

"My children are of different ages, so what I may consider an OK movie for one doesn't necessarily suit the others. When I look in the paper it doesn't tell me anything. The name of the movie could be ABC as far as any information about it but you sure find out when you take the family.

"I am sure that even adults have the same problem when trying to choose a movie.

"The only thing you (newspaper ads) state is the name. Nowadays the name can represent anything from a comedy to a sex film, and often does. It may help to list a week's movie schedule at a time, along with a description of the movie. Please help.

"I do wish we would get more good movies. The last one that I really enjoyed was 'Cool Hand Luke.' The Walt Disney type movies can't be beat, of course."

The writer seems to be one of a number of persons with such thoughts. A group in Escanaba has raised a fund to advertise periodically on the subject in the Press. The listings of current movies place them in categories: Morally unobjectionable for general patronage; Morally unobjectionable for adults and adolescents; Morally unobjectionable for adults; Morally objectionable in part or all, and Condemned. There's also a separate classification "which is given to certain films which, while not morally offensive in themselves, require some analysis and explanation as a protection against wrong interpretation and false conclusions." (Bonnie and Clyde is in this category, along with Georgy Girl, Alfie and Cool Hand Luke!)

Newspapers are loath to make routine editorial judgment on the moral quality of all entertainment because of the undertones of censorship. This is a very difficult judgment, as the floundering of our courts in their efforts to define pornography and obscenity reveal. And it is a negative judgment. Our efforts should not be directed only at suppression of the dirty, but especially in the encouragement of enjoyment of the good and wholesome. The "good" in this case would be the teaching of a values system which would permit frankness about sex within a context of legitimate meaning, but not tolerate it as a prurient, titillating, voyeur come-on for cheap movies.

Society's best protection against smut is not in prohibition. We tried that with liquor in the Prohibition Era with disastrous results. Making sex unprofitable is the most effective curb. When the public level of taste and propriety is raised to a point where the hayloft ceases to be the main theater of profitable drama the movie makers will increase the variety of their offerings.

Public permissiveness has gone a country mile in movie sex. Television swatted the movie industry hard, taking away much of its audience. What could the movies do to win it back? They could offer things that television wouldn't dare offer as family fare on the TV screen. They took a page out of Hugh Hefner's Playboy magazine and sex hit the movie screen like eggs in an electric fan.

(How these movies will fare when they become available for the late, late show arouses wonder.)

And we mustn't blame the movies for all of our undressed entertainment. The topless waitresses aren't in the movie houses. We're on a sex binge that is now breathing suggestively on lots of our once staid advertising. Maybe the problem will kill itself by excess. After nudism, what do you do for an encore? X-ray?

BOGUS

The following policy declaration by the Delta County Democratic Committee may be of interest to the public.

It has long been the practice of certain candidates for public office in Delta County to sail under false political colors. The drab spectacle of rock-ribbed Republicans openly misrepresenting themselves as Democrats to the electorate is a familiar one.

This unseemly performance, which combines contempt for the public with want of common self-respect, evokes amusement, anger, cynicism and disgust.

While a candidate's preference for the lustrous patina of the Democratic label is natural and understandable, he has no shred of claim to that label unless he is, in fact, an authentic Democrat.

We believe it to be against the public interest and a rank disservice to the people of Delta County to allow any stray political hack with a lascivious eye on the public till to masquerade as a Democrat when, in truth, he is a Republican of styanic hue.

We believe, too, that all who desire high ethical standards in homo politicus will agree that any candidate lacks the integrity to campaign under his own party guidon is likely to be a featherweight in other matters of political morality and hence merits short shrift at the polls.

As a bulletin for those who cherish this malpractice, the Democratic Party here announces that, in future, any candidate who seeks to confuse and mislead the public by falsely posturing as a Democrat will subject himself to public exposure, by name.

More precisely, any candidate who attempts deliberately to deceive the voting public by purloining the Democratic emblem to serve his own selfish interests in the oncoming electoral contests would be well and truly advised.

Machines To Make Teachers Better

By DICK KLEINER

PALO ALTO, Calif. (NEA) —The little girl impatiently hit the side of the teletype machine.

"Hurry up," she said. As if it understood, the machine began clattering away.

"This is a review on division," it printed. "Do each problem step by step."

This was the computer room of the Walter Hays Elementary School here. Every day, each of the school's pupils reports for 10 minutes of drill and practice in math—new math, of course, as befits the computer era.

Some gifted sixth-graders even study logic via the computers. They are asked to solve such problems as: "If it is not then Alice does not play tennis."

"To deny the consequent, say."

"A. Alice plays tennis."

"B. Alice goes swimming."

The boy thought a second and typed, "A." The machine immediately typed, "Correct."

This is the dawn of a new era in education, an era which will see the little red schoolhouse replaced by the big stainless steel computer. There are some educators who see danger ahead, with impersonal computers replacing human beings.

But the children at Walter Hays school do not appear to share that fear. They consider the robot, as they call the computer, as a friend.

After all, it knows them by name and some teachers don't. They recognize its complete impartiality—nobody has yet said, "My teacher doesn't like me" about the computer. And the machine gives them its undivided attention while they sit at the keyboard.

"Please type your number and name," the machine says when they switch it on. The children dutifully type their first name. The machine answers with their last name, to indicate that it recognizes them.

After the lesson, the machine tells them how well they have done—"23 problems with 87 per cent correct in 244 seconds." And then it adds a final personal touch—"Goodbye, Lin. Please tear off on the dotted line."

Each day, the computer types out a report for the teacher, telling her how the class is doing, which pupils are ahead, which behind. It automatically picks out the correct lessons in the correct level for each child individually. If the child goes fast, it moves him up to a higher level—"branching," the computer scientists call it—or vice versa, if the child lags.

Even within a lesson, the computer is programmed to adjust to the pupil's progress. If the child misses a few problems in a row—"No, try again," the computer will say in response to an error—it will immediately switch to simpler problems.

Computers in education are not confined to the elementary school level. At Stanford University, I sat in on a class taking elementary Russian on computers.

There are four classes in beginning Russian at Stanford. Two use the computer and the other two are non-computer controls. The comparison between the two groups is startling. In one exam, the regular group made three times as many errors as the computer-trained group.

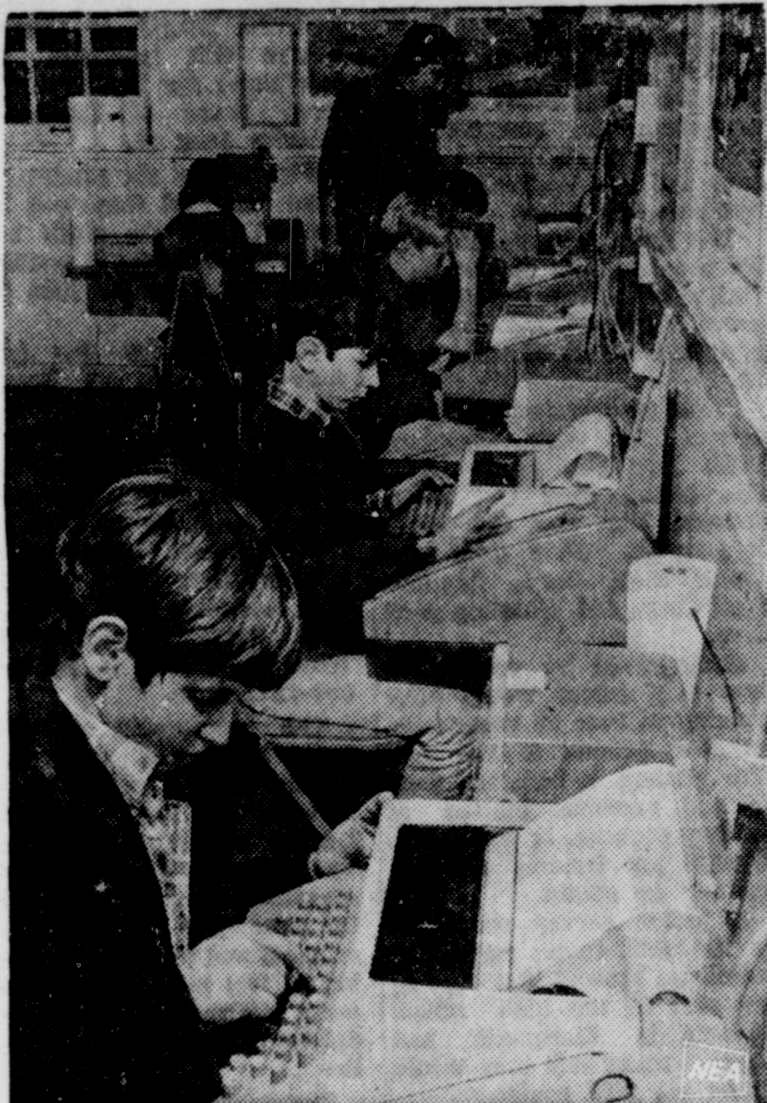

Dr. Patrick Suppes, head of Stanford's Institute for Mathematical Studies in the Social Sciences and consultant to RCA's Instructional Systems Division, thinks another factor is of even more importance.

"Russian is a difficult language," he says, "and always the class has been subjected to many dropouts. The number of students who drop out of the computer classes is significantly less than from the regular classes."

The younger generation—whether it be collegians or sixth graders—adjusts quickly to computerized education. The children at Walter Hays school have already developed some customs regarding it.

For one thing, after a session at the keyboard, they compare the length of the sheet they have typed. The one with the shorter sheet—indicating less wrong answers which have to be corrected—is the winner.

The system is so new that there is yet no unanimity as to what to call it—CAI, for Computer-Assisted Instruction; CBI, for Computer-Based Instruction; or CMI, for Computer-Managed Instruction. At the moment CAI is ahead by an electrode.

MORE AND MORE computers will probably be moving into the classroom in the near future but there's not much chance that they'll totally replace teachers. Hopefully, computers will free teachers for more challenging tasks while eliminating some of their drudgery.

PLEASE TYPE YOUR NUMBER AND NAME.

A SAMPLE MIXED math lesson as served up by a computer in Palo Alto, Calif.

RCA's Instructional Systems Division, one of the pioneers in CAI, is presently installing the first major system. It is going into 15 elementary schools in New York, where 6,000 pupils will work at 192 terminals—terminal is computer-language for an individual keyboard.

By next fall, this system will be operational. Others will follow. There are already experimental systems here and in selected school districts in Mississippi and Kentucky, but New York's will be the first full-scale operation system.

In its way, it, too, will be experimental. Nobody is quite sure how CAI works or exactly what to do with it. RCA freely admits this and is anxiously looking forward to the results of the New York installation.

There are many unsolved problems. What, for example, can the system teach? And is there anything it can't teach?

Certain subjects are obvious. Math is one. A child is asked by the computer to solve a problem. He types his answer and is either right or wrong. The computer can equally well ask a child to pick out the adjectives in a sentence.

But how about spelling? Unless the machine types the word, the child won't know what the word is, and already the game is over. To teach spelling, obviously, audio would have to be added.

And what about subjects which require conceptual answers—essay-type questions, for example? Can a computer be developed sophisticated enough to grade these answers?

Dr. Suppes thinks it can. "And, besides," he says, "no two human teachers would grade an essay answer the same."

Suppes also feels the objection of some to computers—that they might cause a student to become tense and nervous—falters when you compare that possibility against some current considerations.

"Yes," he says, "it is possible that some children would react adversely to the computer. But I think more react adversely to some of the teachers we now have. One of the biggest problems in education today is finding competent teachers."

By JACOBY & SON

Oswald: "What do you think of the way North and South reached their spade game?"

Jim: "The only difference between it and 'Papa-Mama' bidding lies in the fact that each of them pushed a trifle. South might well have stopped at two spades and North did not have much of a hand with which to go on to game."

Oswald: "North's decision to bid game was based on the well-known principle that you only want to stop one short when you don't think that there will be any chance at all to make a game contract. North could not tell if his hand would be what South wanted to see but North wanted game and rubber if he could possibly get it."

Jim: "In theory the game was worth bidding. It depended on the location of the spade king and therefore was even money to make."

Oswald: "In practice the chance to make game was far better than 50 per cent. South has two club losers provided the defense goes right out and collects two club tricks. There is one diamond loser in any event, and that same 50 per cent chance of a spade loser. West had to select an opening lead. He might have laid down his ace of diamonds and shifted to a low club or he might have opened a club. He did choose a low spade, South promptly won the opening lead; cashed his ace of spades and proceeded to discard a high heart."

Jim: "As you said West might have made a lead to beat the contract. He would, if he had another chance, but West had only one chance at the table and went wrong."

Questions And Answers

Q—Which are the only Latin American countries in which Spanish is not the official language?

A—Brazil, whose official language is Portuguese; and Haiti whose official language is French.

Q—Is Alcatraz Island still maintained as a federal prison?

A—The island, called "The Rock," is no longer a penitentiary; however, as the future of the island is undetermined, the prison buildings still stand.

Q—What is the origin of the word "brunch"?

A—The word was coined in Great Britain from the words breakfast and lunch. It has become a form of entertainment and is popular in the United States.

Textbook publishers are attempting to solve that now, with the help of groups like Suppes' IMSSS and RCA. In experimental CAI work at schools here, various types of textbooks programmed for the computers are being tried.

RCA's engineers are working with different kinds of equipment. Should the computer be equipped with a video screen? With audio? Should the pupil be able to talk or point or merely type answers?

And how harsh a disciplinarian should the computer be? At the moment, it is rather mild—"No, try again," is its response to an error. But it could be made to say anything a school district wants—"Boy, are you a dum-dum" is within its capabilities. It could even be equipped to

Ann Landers

Tell Mary Sunshine To Change Subject

Dear Ann Landers. Right now my head feels as if it will burst. My mother just left. I need to know what to do about her daily visits which leave me depressed, drained and half sick.

The minute Mother sits down she begins to report on the illnesses and tragedies of relatives, friends and neighbors. Every story she tells is like a movie. She has an eye and an ear for detail that is uncanny. Mother makes you feel every ache and pain of the person she is describing. She'd rather go to the hospital to see a sick person than go to a party.

Last month Mother attended seven funerals. (Only one was a relative.) Right now I am so down in the dumps I could die. I can do nothing to alleviate her hardresser's agony (her small daughter is dying of leukemia).

I can't help her neighbor whose only son lost both legs in Vietnam. Last week Mother awakened me at midnight to tell me about a car accident in which four people were killed. She had heard it on the radio. I didn't know the people and neither did she—but "Isn't it AWFUL?"

I love my mother and I don't want to be disrespectful, but I just can't listen anymore. Do I owe it to her? Would I be a bad daughter if I told her I didn't want to hear her daily reports of tragedy and death? Please Advise me, Ann.—BLUER THAN BLUE

Dear Blue: Each of us knows someone who thoroughly enjoys being first with the bad news. When that person is your mother the problem becomes compounded because you cannot lope off a mother as you would a pesty neighbor or a boring friend.

Tell Mary Sunshine her continuous recital of gloom and doom is making you ill and she'll just have to spare you. When she starts again tell her you'd prefer not to hear any more sad stories and then change the subject.

Dear Ann Landers: I've always had an odd feeling about

Great Lakes Boat
Mishaps Kill 18

CLEVELAND (AP)—Eighteen boaters have died on the Great Lakes since the season opened in April. Rear Admiral Charles Tighe, commander of the Ninth Coast Guard District, reported Friday.

Tighe expressed "alarm and deep concern" over the casualty rate. If it continues, he said, more than 80 boaters will die on the Great Lakes in 1968, compared with 58 last year.

A majority of the deaths were of persons not wearing any type of life-saving device, even although these devices were available in the boats, the admiral said.

Ten of the 18 deaths recorded in April and May were in Lake Erie; six in Lake Michigan, and one each in Lake Huron and Lake St. Clair.

Urge Steam Car Answer In Need To Cut Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — A cluster of U.S. Senators has been urged to put steam back in the nation's automobiles and thereby strike a blow against air pollution.

After hearing representatives of the nation's auto industry tell them not to lose faith in the internal combustion engine, two senators took a near-silent spin through the driveway of a Senate garage in one of the latest prototypes of the Stanley Steamer.

Sens. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., members of the Senate Air Pollution subcommittee — took the ride at the opening Monday of hearings to examine alternatives to internal combustion — a power source that replaced steam on the highways more than 50 years ago.

Better Than Gas
Dr. Robert U. Ayres, a physicist doing such research on a Ford Foundation grant for Resources for the Future, Inc., said the new steamer can match or better the gasoline-burning engine on almost every point.

He warned against what he said is the "inherent conservatism" of the auto industry which he said tends to keep out of the running competition from any engine run on steam, electricity, or other alternative power sources.

He urged the government to support research and development of a practical steam-driven car and to establish it as a new industry in a manner similar to the setting up of the Communications Satellite Corp.

Takes Time
A production line could be set up in about three years but a complete changeover to steam could not be anticipated for the next 10 years or so, Ayres said.

Herbert L. Misch, a vice president in charge of research for Ford Motor Co., said a change to any alternative power source "would have to be evolutionary. It is not an overnight or one-year-to-the-next proposition."

He said it isn't true the auto industry will "resist any radical change in automotive power systems because of our tremendous investment in existing production facilities."

He and Lawrence R. Hofstad, research head for General Motors Corp., said the industry has long conducted extensive research into possible alternative power sources — including steam.

Safety Doubt
And they said filters on 1968 model cars eliminate up to 60 per cent of carbon monoxide and noxious hydro carbons—a rate they said would improve on later models.

They said a steam engine would be bulky, heavy, extremely complex and costly to produce and maintain. They said it would be difficult to guarantee absolute safety.

Ayres maintained the engines of a new steam era would be models of simplicity, weighing less and taking up less space than comparable internal combustion engines.

Swallows Pet Turtle; May Need Surgery

BOUNTIFUL, Utah (AP) — Two-year-old Brad Haines may have to undergo surgery—to have a pet turtle removed.

Brad swallowed the turtle, Myrtle, early last week. X rays Wednesday showed it to be alive.

His mother, Mrs. Russell Haines, said X rays Thursday were unable to confirm if it was still alive, but a doctor had advised surgery if the turtle did not pass through the boy's system today.

At first, Brad just laughed and said, "It tickles." But now he has had "one too many X rays and one too many trips to the hospital," Mrs. Haines said, and he no longer laughs about it.

Science Shrinks Painful Hemorrhoids Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

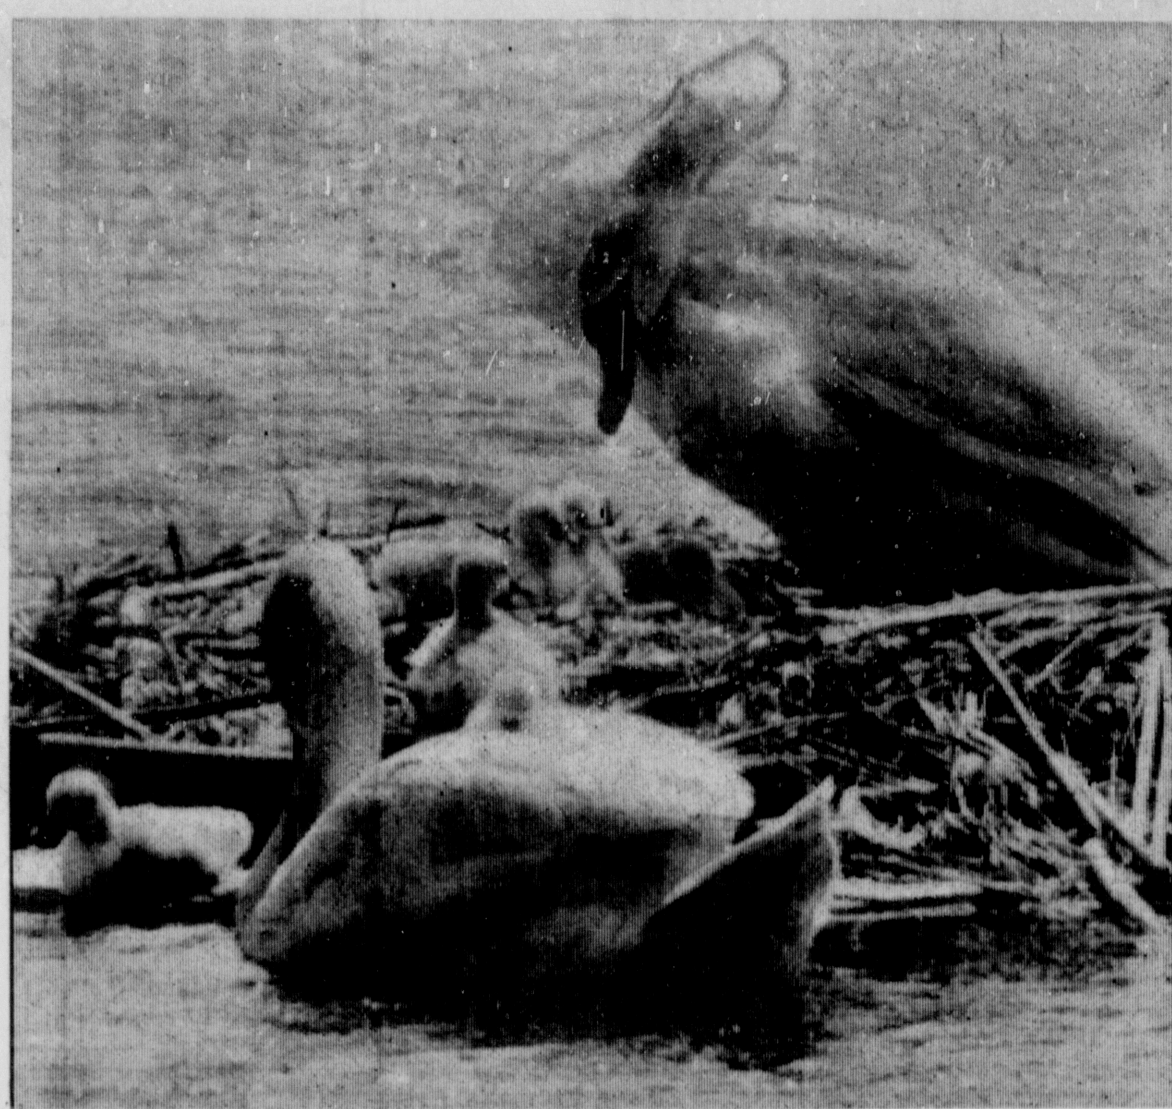

Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain.

In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation H®. There is no other formula for hemorrhoids like it. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

Escapee Can't Cope With World After 14 Years

EAST LANSING (AP)—Paul Spinner, 40, who served 14 years of a life sentence on a murder conviction, is happily behind bars today after a weekend when he was free to roam about Michigan.

Spinner walked away from the Southern Michigan prison in Jackson Saturday. He turned himself in at the State Police post in East Lansing Sunday.

After hitch-hiking, through the state, Spinner told police he could not cope with the outside world and the changes in it, and he preferred being behind bars.

Georgia Governor Has Gift Goose

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Three Atlanta high school youths favored Gov. Lester Maddox Sunday with a nonpolitical donation—a white goose named Mac.

The boys, Jim Patton, Steve Bishoff and George Knight, said there was no particular occasion for the gift; they just wanted the governor to have it.

Maddox accepted the nearly grown gander and set it loose in the fountain in front of the governor's mansion.

There are no other geese on the premises, but Mac may find a playmate in another fountain dweller, Leaping Lester II, a frog.

Poor People Get Aid Of Churches

WASHINGTON (AP) — T Poor People's Campaign run by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, has received its strongest backing from the nation's churches—white and Negro.

The churches have donated large amounts of money. And many in the Washington area have offered their buildings to shelter the overflow of people from Resurrection City, the encampment of the demonstrators.

Leaders of the campaign give little information on finances.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, SCLC president and leader of the demonstration, said total contributions "have probably gone over the $100,000 mark."

He gave no figures on expenses, and officials who control the finances at SCLC headquarters in Atlanta have made no response to repeated inquiries.

But those working in the Washington financial office said contributions aren't keeping up with expenses. One official said "I don't know where the money's going to come from."

A top aide to Abernathy, the Rev. Andrew Young, said he couldn't give a precise financial picture but added that the SCLC was tapping all its sources of support.

The last estimate on the cost of the still unfinished campaign—shantytown was $84,000.

The encampment of plywood huts near the Lincoln Memorial reflecting pool has expanded little since heavy rains made it a muddy mess in its recently completed third week.

Campaign officials said in recent days the camp was about three-fourths completed and had about 2,200 people on the grounds. Another 2,000 had been evacuated temporarily to area churches because of the mud, the rain and the cold, joining about 1,000 others who hadn't been able to move in for lack of space.

About 90 per cent or more of those at the camp appear to be Negroes, a large percentage of them apparently poor. The racial breakdown would become about 20 per cent non-Negro with addition of the estimated 400 Mexican-Americans, 150 Indians and 175 Appalachian whites who were outside.

Cash contributions ranging from a quarter to $5,000 have come from individuals and other organizations spanning a broad spectrum of American society.

A few unions have contributed sizably. The Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union has reported pledges from its locals totaling $20,000.

But the Rev. Young said union support has come slowly. And he said other civil rights groups so far have given no money.

Food has been donated in large quantity by all the national food chains, some by individuals and other groups.

And the federal agency the campaigners have accused of giving too little food to the poor, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, has provided more than 15,000 pounds of surplus commodities such as peanut butter, cheese and powdered milk.

Yet campaign officials estimate they've had to buy about 60 per cent of the food for about 5,000 people at an estimated before-donations cost of $1 per person per day.

Rocky Explains Primary Miss

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller said Sunday he didn't enter the Wisconsin presidential primary because he was supporting Michigan Gov. George Romney at the time.

Rockefeller, who received 7,995 write-in votes in the Wisconsin voting, made his comment to newsmen after dining with Wisconsin Gov. Warren Knowles in the executive mansion.

Former Vice President Richard Nixon, who was on the ballot, captured the Wisconsin delegation as a result of the state's April 2 primary.

Asked if he wished he had entered the primary, Rockefeller said, "I would like to have come into the Wisconsin primary but I was supporting George Romney."

Romney withdrew from contention before the Wisconsin balloting.

Teachers Needed

HAVANA (AP) — Education minister Jose Llanusa says Cuba must graduate more than 4,000 primary school teachers annually to keep up with the pupil population growth. He fixed the number of primary students this year at 1,391,000 and said classes average 31 members.

Business District Development:

Plan Needs Only 'Go-Ahead' Signal

By CLINT DUNATHAN

Is Escanaba's downtown development program at the crossroads?

The answer will be forthcoming at a meeting to be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, June 5, in the cafeteria building at the rear of the Escanaba Junior High School.

Attending will be owners of property and tenants of the downtown business district and citizens interested in the city's commercial future.

Information will be presented and questions will be answered on all phases of the proposed development program arrived at in studies made for the Chamber of Commerce and the Escanaba Foundation by Redevelopment Services Inc., Milwaukee, reports Henry H. Dubbelde, chairman of the Chamber's Downtown Development Committee.

"Anchor" Downtown Dubbelde will be chairman of the meeting in which Robert Irwin of Redevelopment Services Inc., Chamber president Ray McDonough, and Chamber Manager Walter Lewke will participate.

Keys to the future of the city's commercial district are contained in a plan that could unlock a bright and prosperous redevelopment concept — a plan designed to "anchor" the district in which there is already so much invested and encourage additional up-grading of the area.

The plan proposed by Redevelopment Services Inc. after months of study would consolidate and stabilize the central business district by definitely defining the east and west approaches.

Involved in the plan is an "Eastway" and "Westway" (each two-blocks in area) that would be located at the east and west approaches to the downtown.

Ready To Move

The "Eastway" would be between Ludington and 2nd Ave. S., from 8th to 9th Sts. One block would be for shops and the other for parking.

The "Westway" would be located between Ludington St. and 2nd Ave. N., from 13th to 14th Sts.

"Options have been obtained from the present owners on properties now available in those four blocks, and the Eastway area is practically ready to go for marketing and developing into shops, retail establishments, and the necessary parking," reports Dubbelde, the Downtown Development Committee chairman.

"The meeting on Wednesday night will — we hope — bring the necessary response to indicate that development of the two Eastway blocks can move ahead."

Public Invited

Besides the 174 property owners and the tenants in the Eastway and Westway areas (a total of four blocks) the businessmen of the downtown district and the interested public are invited to attend.

The Wednesday night meeting is expected to bring answers to questions such as: Is there sufficient interest to move forward at once on proposals for development of the Eastway area? Should the proposed development at this time go beyond the Eastway and include the Westway area also?

There are sufficient number of properties optioned in the four-block areas to proceed. Not all of the properties are optioned, but there are options enough to move ahead with marketing and development plans, it was explained.

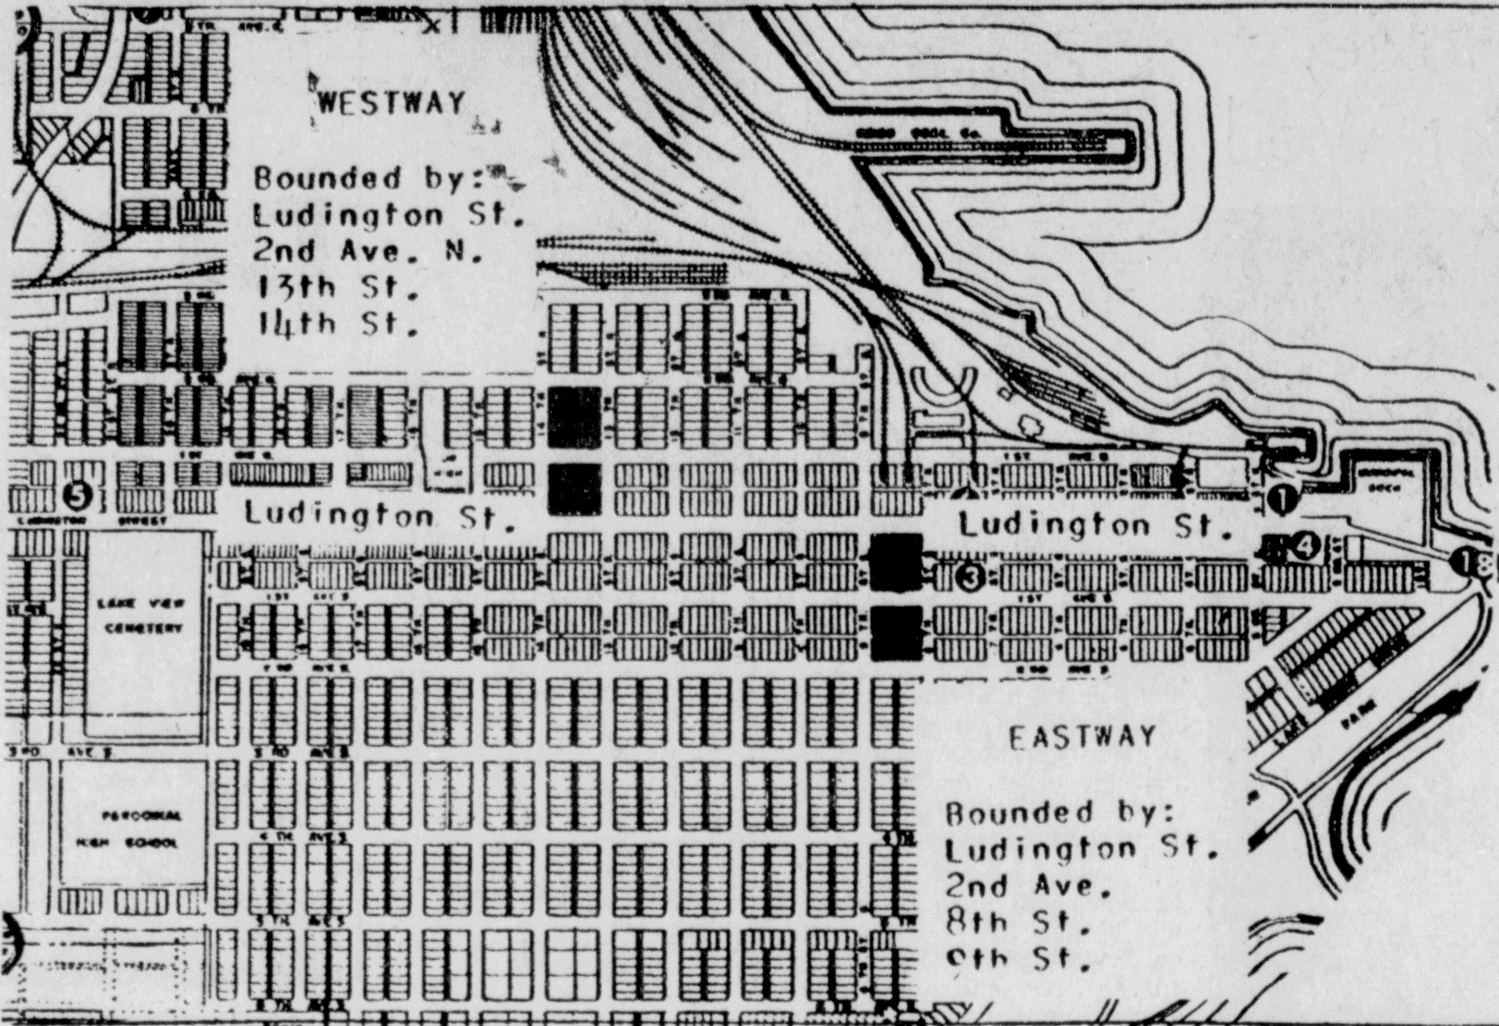

Irwin of Redevelopment Services has advised the Chamber of Commerce and the Escanaba Foundation that the city's downtown shopping district is superior to any "shopping center" for it provides everything — professional, civic, social, and other services as well as merchandise.

"The strength of the Escanaba shopping district is obvious, but it must be anchored," Irwin has advised.

The Eastway and Westway developments, marking entrance to the central business section, would be the "anchors." Additional improvements in the city's commercial center would be encouraged and there would be an enhancement of value rather than a decline in the investment in the retail hub of the community.

It is never too late to take the steps necessary to business district development, Irwin believes. He advises moving forward now, and the meeting Wednesday night will determine how soon the development program can be started in Escanaba.

ESCANABA'S CENTRAL BUSINESS DISTRICT would be "anchored" by Eastway and Westway approaches if development plans get the "go-ahead" signal at a meeting to be held Wednesday night. Properties in the two areas have been optioned so far as they are presently available. Each area would combine shops and parking.

THE PROPOSED "EASTWAY" is "ready to go" for marketing and development and the "go-ahead" signal may come at the meeting to be held Wednesday night at the Junior High School cafeteria building. Plans are also prepared for the "Westway" if the decision is favorable. The "Eastway" pictured combines area for shops and parking, and is a two block area located between Ludington and 2nd St. S., 8th and 9th Sts.

Man, 20, Pleads Guilty In Court

A 20-year-old man from Corpus Christi, Tex., today pleaded guilty to unlawfully driving away an automobile without intent to steal when arraigned before Judge Bernard H. Davidson as the June term of Circuit Court opened in the Delta County building.

Hector Escocheata was remanded to the Delta County jail pending pre-sentence investigation by the court's probation officer.

Escocheata was charged with taking a 1961-model pickup truck owned by Charles LaFave. He was arrested last week by Escanaba police. The charge is a Circuit Court misdemeanor carrying a maximum penalty of two years imprisonment.

The arraignment of Escocheata was the only criminal action heard in court this morning. Sentencing of Mrs. Ruby Lindstrom, 35, of 1207 3rd Ave. S., for receiving stolen property was scheduled this afternoon. She pleaded guilty to the charge when arraigned last month in Marquette.

Six civil matters were set for jury trial as the calendar was called. The first — Herman A. Helman, 1515 Dakota Ave., Gladstone, vs. All State Insurance Co. — is set to begin at 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

In that case, Helman is asking damages for his car which was demolished after allegedly being stolen in Gladstone. At issue in the case is whether or not the car was driven away without Helman's permission on Aug. 4, 1966.

William Roberts of the Delta County Sheriff's Department is attending a basic police training school at Northern Michigan University.

Gladstone City Police issued a traffic summons to John J. Johnson of Rte. 1 Gladstone for violation of the basic speed law, traveling too fast for conditions.

State Police issued traffic summonses to Donald Cameron, Wauwatosa, Wis., speeding; Thomas Wandahsega, Wilson, defective exhaust and failure to transfer registration plates, and Donald Lambert, Rte. 1, Gladstone, speeding.

Thomas R. Hanley, 27, Lake Shore Dr., Escanaba, who was sought by State Police on warrants for careless driving and drunk and disorderly, was released on bond to appear in Municipal Court after he appeared at the State Police Post in Gladstone Saturday.

Nolan Caswell, 19, of 204 N. 12th St., was fined $25 and assessed $6.80 court costs in Justice Ross Davis' court at Gladstone after he pleaded guilty to a charge of simple larceny. State Police said Caswell was arrested after investigation of a larceny of radiators in Brampton Township.

Malicious damage to a number of residence properties in Escanaba were reported to city police over the weekend, including damage at 402, 404, 228, 302 and 308 S. 19th St., 1825 3rd Ave. S., and 1900 3rd Ave. S. Fences were broken, shrubbery and trees damaged, and other vandalism was committed.

A charter meeting of the Moose will be held at Tim & Sally's at 8:30 tonight, and all of the men who signed as members are asked to be present, said Omer LaBumbard. The completion of organization will be discussed and date set for induction of members. There will be a free buffet lunch, and prospective members are invited to bring their wives and friends.

Vehicles owned by Mrs. John Fahey of 212 S. 18th St. and Robert Hanson, Escanaba Rte. 1, were stolen by juveniles over the weekend in Escanaba. Two juveniles were involved in one incident, five in the second. All were referred by Escanaba police to Delta County Juvenile Court.

Theft of an automobile from Edwin Provo, 800 Stephenson Ave., is under investigation by State Police. Officers said Provo reported the car was taken from where he had parked it along U. S. 2 and 41 when he encountered mechanical trouble. State Police said the car was found Saturday on County Rd. B-52 in Bark River Township. The car had been damaged when it hit a utility pole.

Officers Probe Downtown Fire

Officers of the Escanaba police and fire departments accompanied by State Fire Marshal Sgt. Wesley Freeman of Marquette today were continuing their investigation of a fire that damaged a downtown Escanaba business place Saturday night.

Damaged is the Kiddie Korner at 923 Ludington St. and the Needham Electric Co. building at the rear, 105 S. 10th St. from a fire that started outside the wall of the building and then spread to the interior.

The two-story frame structure at the corner of Ludington and 10th St. is about a block distant from the City Hall fire station, and the blaze was noted by firemen from their second floor window at 10:40 p. m. Saturday.

The flames spread rapidly in the building and caused damage by smoke and then by water as firemen fought successfully to confine the fire and prevent its spread to other retail establishments in the area. Damage, however, to the building and contents is estimated in the thousands of dollars.

The building is owned by Harry Needham. The front portion, occupied by the Kiddie Korner, is rented to Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Moreau who operate the children's toy shop. The Moreaus, who have a home in Manistique, also maintain an apartment on the second floor of the building.

The investigation with the assistance of the fire marshal was ordered by Fire Chief Palmer Deroulin.

College Board To Discuss Site Offer Tonight

In beating VFW 7 to 0 Schwalbach faced only three men over regulation as two walks and an error accounted for the only opposition base runners.

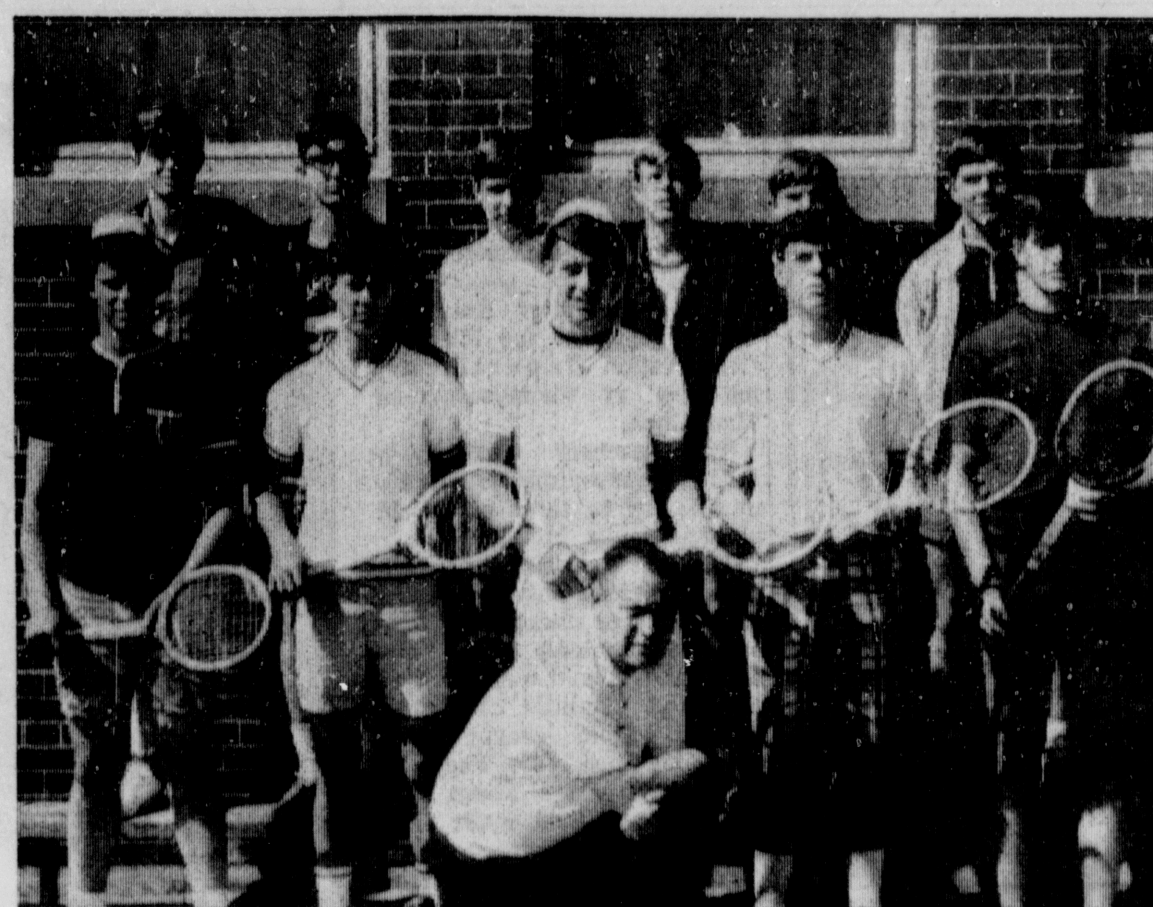

Meanwhile, Tip Lueneberg, Schwalbach and Jim Nevala continued the heavy stick work for Rotary as all three reached base safely each time at the plate.

With Moberg working on a skein of eight hitless innings, the veteran Kelly O'Connell opened the third with a drive through the box and eventually scored on a wild pitch to end Moberg's string of scoreless innings. Steve Gauthier tied the game in the fourth on a two base drive by John Meunier, but Jeff Young put the Lions on in front to stay in the top of the fifth when he drove one of Moberg's pitches to the fence to score Mike Miketinac.

Mike Sankovien kept the Eagles rolling as they downed Exchange 8 to 3 with Mike Cevengros's three hits providing most of the punch for the Eagles. Rookie Steve Erickson made his first start for Credit Union a successful one as he beat the Bankers 7 to 4 and moved his team into a four way tie for second place.

Giants Defeat Dodgers; Marichal Wins 9th Game

By The Associated Press
A new page in the calendar hasn't changed Juan Marichal's habits, but Willie Stargell and the St. Louis Cardinals are busting out all over.

Marichal became the first nine-game winner in the majors

Sunday, shacking Los Angeles on three hits for his fifth straight victory since May 7 as the San Francisco Giants cuffed the Dodgers 5-1.

Stargell, notorious for his June batting rambages, belted six hits, including a pair of homers, and knocked in six runs as Pittsburgh divided a doubleheader with Atlanta, winning the opener 8-4 before bowing 10-5.

The Cardinals, meanwhile, soared back into the National League lead after 11 days off the pace by sweeping a twin bill from the New York Mets 6-3 and 3-2.

Cincinnati trimmed Philadelphia 3-3 and the Chicago Cubs took Houston 3-2 in 12 innings in other National League games.

Marichal, 9-2, turned in his strongest performance of the year on the way to his fifth complete game triumph since Houston beat him 7-1 nearly a month ago. The Giants ace blanked the Dodgers on two scattered hits until Wes Parker homered in the ninth.

Jim Hart and Dick Dietz each drove in two runs as the Giants punished loser Don Sutton and three relievers with a 13-hit attack.

Stargell hiked his batting average 23 points to .302 and grabbed the league lead in home runs.

Whips Defeat Soccer Cougars

A pair of second-half goals gave the Washington Whips a 2-0 North American Soccer League victory over the Detroit Cougars Saturday in a game played before 6,236 fans in the nation's capital.

It was the sixth loss in 10 games for the Detroit club, which ranks third in the Lakes Division of the Eastern Conference. Washington has a 5-4 season record.

In Sunday's games, Atlanta defeated Toronto 1-0, San Diego downed Cleveland 2-0, Kansas City edged Vancouver 2-1, and St. Louis beat Oakland 2-1.

There were no games scheduled today.

Red Wings Name Gadsby As Coach

DETROIT (AP)—Bill Gadsby, one of only five men to play 20 years in the National Hockey League, today was named coach of the Detroit Red Wings.

Gadsby takes over from Sid Abel, the Red Wings' coach and general manager since 1962, who announced last week he would give up the coaching reins to devote more time to the general manager's job.

There had been speculation that veteran Gordie Howe, still under a player contract, might get the job. But close associates say Howe would be reluctant to call it quits as a player.

Howe, who holds more NHL records than anyone else, still has a year to go on a two-year contract.

Gadsby, 40, ended his playing career at the end of the 1965-66 season. He coached Edmonton, Alta., in the Western Canadian Junior Hockey League last season.

Considered one of the finest defensemen ever to play in the NHL, Gadsby served with Chicago, New York and Detroit, where he played his final five years.

Detroit has slipped out of the playoffs for the past two seasons, since Gadsby's departure as a player. The Wings finished last in the NHL's East Division last year, allowing a league high of 197 goals.

Abel moved to bolster the sagging defense with two major trades this spring. He acquired rights to former Toronto stand-out Carl Brewer in a deal which sent Norm Ullman, Floyd

Smith and Paul Henderson to the Leafs. Two weeks ago, the Wings picked up Brewer's old linemate at Toronto, Bobby Baun. The Wings gave up Howie Young and Gary Jarrett to get Baun from the Oakland Seals.

Baun and Brewer played seven years together at Toronto before Brewer quit pro hockey to be reinstated as an amateur. His two-year reinstatement period ends in December but there is some question of whether Brewer wants to return to big time hockey.

He coached the Muskegon, Mich., Mohawks to the International League title this year, and reportedly has other outside interests.

"If Brewer indicates he doesn't want to play next season, we would still have a chance to pick an experienced defenseman from another club's roster in the draft at Montreal June 12," Abel said.

He said he hopes to get a definite answer from Brewer within a week.

Four Canadian drivers dominated modified action at the U. P. Fairgrounds in Escanaba Saturday night. The four stock car drivers from Soo, Canada, Wes Becket, Hubert Brazeau, Ed Pawley and Wayne Carter won four firsts, one second and two thirds. Brazeau was a double winner capturing the first heat and the feature, while Pawley and Becket also picked up firsts.

A crowd of 2,335 fans sat through a 45 minute delay waiting for the rain to stop and action to resume. The races were slowed by the rain and though numerous cars slid out there were no major accidents.

Canadian Racers Dominate Action

Four Canadian drivers dominated modified action at the U. P. Fairgrounds in Escanaba Saturday night. The four stock car drivers from Soo, Canada, Wes Becket, Hubert Brazeau, Ed Pawley and Wayne Carter won four firsts, one second and two thirds. Brazeau was a double winner capturing the first heat and the feature, while Pawley and Becket also picked up firsts.

A crowd of 2,335 fans sat through a 45 minute delay waiting for the rain to stop and action to resume. The races were slowed by the rain and though numerous cars slid out there were no major accidents.

Sportsman drivers were paced by Dick Peterson of Ensign who captured the third heat and the feature. Young Ted Mott also was a double winner with firsts in the first heat and the semi-feature.

There will be racing again Sunday night.

Tigers Split Twinbill Behind Hiller, Stanley

DETROIT (AP)—Manager Mayo Smith's adrenalin got a Stanley's first career grand slam off loser Steve Barber Hiller's steady diet of curve balls eased the pain as the Detroit Tigers split a doubleheader with the New York Yankees Sunday.

The Yankees snapped a five-game Detroit winning streak with a 4-3 decision on a disputed call at the plate in the opener. Hiller fired a five-hitter to win the nightcap 8-1 with the help of a wind-blown grand slam home run by Mickey Stanley.

The split, before 43,912 fans—second largest home crowd of the season—left Detroit three games ahead of second-place Baltimore.

Smith blew his top in the first game when the Yankees scored the winning run in the ninth inning when Tom Tresh slid under catcher Jim Price's tag. Umpire Bill Kinnaman ejected the Detroit Manager. It was the first time Smith had been tossed out of an American League game.

"Price had the plate blocked," said Smith. "There was no way Tresh could have scored."

The Tigers had taken a 3-1 lead in the opener when home runs by Bob Cox and Joe Pepitone off loser Denny McLain knotted the score at 3-3 by the end of the eighth.

Tresh led off the ninth with a double off loser Jon Warden and moved to third on an infield out. Cox hit a grounder to shortstop Ray Oyler, who fired to Price as Tresh slid home with the winning run.

Hiller, making his first start of the season, lost his shutout in the Yankee ninth on singles by Cox, Ellie Rodriguez and Gene Michael. Hiller, now 3-1, had a three-hit shutout going into the ninth.

"It's not as hard to go from relief to starting as it is to go from starting to relief," said Hiller, who hadn't gone more than six innings this year. "When you start, you can give up a hit and it won't hurt too much. But in relief you go in and bear down right away." Stanley's first career grand slam off loser Steve Barber capped a six-run Detroit rally in the fifth. Mickey Mantle set the stage with an error which allowed five unearned runs.

Run-scoring singles by Price and Jim Northrup brought home Detroit's final two runs in the seventh.

"I hit the ball solid but it had no oomph behind it," said Stanley. "I didn't think it was gone."

In the first game, New York took a 1-0 lead in the fourth on a single by Tresh, a stolen base and a double by Jake Gibbs.

Detroit went ahead 3-1 in the sixth, scoring three runs off New York starter Fritz Peterson after he retired 14 men in a row.

Dick Tracewski walked and McLain sacrificed Tracewski to second. Dick McAuliffe, singled home one run and took second on an error. Stanley's single brought home the second tally and a double by Northrup scored Stanley from first base.

The Tigers open a five-game series at Boston tonight with Joe Sparna going against Gary Waslewski.

Raising Muskies In U.P.

By KENNETH S. LOWE
Of Panax Newspapers

Raising muskellunge is a ticklish job. Just ask Walter Houghton, fish biologist at the Michigan Conservation Department's hatchery at Thompson near Manistique. The hatchery currently is raising approximately 30,000 muskie fry in three of the 24 circular tanks in use there. The muskies, about an inch in length, feed only on plankton, which is microscopic animal life commonly called "water fleas." If cold weather prevails and plankton cannot be obtained from nearby lakes, the young muskie die. They can only survive for about two days without food while they are in the fry stage.

Plankton is obtained by seining a small lake near Thompson. A cylindrical fine meshed net is pulled along in the water to collect the plankton, which is then transferred to 35-gallon containers. Two of these, filled to the brim, are needed every day to keep the 30,000 tiny muskies from starving. Later, when the muskies reach their next stage of growth—at from one and a half to two inches in length—they feed on sucker fry. There are slightly more than a half million sucker eggs at the Thompson Hatchery. They are contained in a number of jars and are just beginning to hatch. Houghton hopes they'll be "bite size" for the muskies when the young fish are ready to switch their diets from plankton to sucker fry.

The muskies at Thompson, incidentally, were hatched from eggs taken from muskellunge that were recently introduced in Iron Lake in Iron County. Like muskies, northern pike and walleyes also require plankton as a starting food in hatcheries.

HENRY VONDETT (left), Marquette, regional fisheries biologist for the Conservation Department, and Walter Houghton, fish biologist at Thompson Hatchery, discuss Upper Peninsula muskellunge rearing project beside one of three tanks in which musky fry are being held at the hatchery.

MANISTIQUE

Christine Schnurer Is Bride Of D. D. Smith

Miss Christine E. Schnurer wore an empire style, floor-length gown of crepe and lace with wrist length sleeves of lace when she became the bride of Daniel Dale Smith at St. Francis de Sales Church in a one o'clock ceremony Saturday afternoon.

Her gown was accented with a detachable chapel sweep train of lace, trimmed in crepe. Her wedding dress formed a round neckline trimmed in crepe and an A-line skirt. A three-tiered elbow length veil of nylon tulle was highlighted by a circular band of crepe roses with cultured pearls. She carried a bouquet of red and white roses.

Christine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Schnurer, 619 Michigan Ave., and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Jacob Toennessen and the late Alger Smith, Gulliver.

Father Daniel Zaloga, asst. pastor of St. Francis officiated at the double-ring ceremony and Mrs. Jack Schnurer, sister-in-law of the bride, of Fond du Lac, was soloist.

Aisle For Bride

Leading the procession into the church before the ceremony and forming an aisle for the bride were nieces and nephews of the bride and groom. Kathy Schnurer, Linda Gardapee, JoAnne Gardapee, Karla Smith, Rhonda Smith, Robin Welch, Lola McGahan wore pastel linen dresses with a daisy-lace overdress and matching headpieces and carried pastel tinted daisies. John Schnurer, Jr., Robert Schnurer, Craig Albright, Doug McGahan and Clifford Goudreau wore dark trousers, white shirts, and dark bow ties.

Mrs. Raymond Gardapee of Powers, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Jean Albright, Powers, another sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Nancy Gardapee, also of Powers and a niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

Flower Girl In White

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Howard Smith of Manistique as best man with Raymond Gardapee of Powers as groomsmen. Christopher Schnurer of Fond du Lac, nephew of the bride, served as junior groomsmen.

Patti Albright was flower girl and wore a white crepe and lace floor length dress with a flowing lace train, the same style as the bridal dress, with a white veil. She carried a basket of roses and pastel daisies and wore a white-gold locket, the gift of the bride.

Brian Smith was ring bearer and wore a white dinner jacket with cummerbund and a black bow tie. He carried the matching wedding bands on a white crepe and lace pillow.

Walter Welch of Manistique and John Schnurer, Fond du Lac, ushered.

The bride's attendants wore crepe floor length gowns with lace empire bodices. Matching bows and netting formed headpieces and they carried single long-stem red roses. The matron of honor was gowned in yellow, the bridesmaid in turquoise blue, and the junior bridesmaid in pink.

Home In Manistique

A reception was held in the K of C Hall from 5-8 with dancing to the Majestics following from 8 to midnight. Darlene Welch assisted in cutting the cake and Carol Smith served punch. Nora Smith was in charge of the guest book.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith left for a wedding trip to an unannounced destination. Upon their return they will make their home in Manistique.

Both are graduates of Manistique High School. Mrs. Smith attended Michael Reese Hospital School of Nursing in Chicago and is employed as an RN at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. Mr. Smith, a four year Navy veteran, is employed by Inland Lime and Stone Co.

Canadian 'Bug' Planes Drop In

Nine Boeing Stearman single-engine planes, vintage 1941 and used as primary trainers during World War II, flew in perfect formation to the Schoolcraft County Airport Friday night enroute to the Lakehead region of Ft. William and Port Arthur, Ont.

The pilots are employees of General Airspray, Ltd. of St. Thomas, Ont., 120 miles east of Windsor and just across the lake from Cleveland and are professional "air sprayers."

They will be spraying 150,000 acres of evergreens in the Lakehead region with a liquid organic-phosphate spray to rid that area of the Spruce Budworm, an insect that eats the shoots of evergreens.

Roc Hodgins, a 14-year veteran pilot who is leader of the group, said another nine planes were expected to join in the spraying operation.

Bad weather conditions forced the group to postpone their expected Saturday morning departure.

Hodgins said each plane carrier approximately 125 pounds of the liquid spray and is able to spray a 600-acre area with one load.

Three of the pilots were from California, one was from Connecticut and the other five were Canadians from Ontario.

Mrs. Leon Nicholson, Range St., entertained her bridge club recently with awards going to Mrs. W. F. Kefauver, Mrs. Alvin Nelson and Mrs. Dorothy Shipman.

Belmont Stakes Ends Odd Series

NEW YORK (AP) — Why shouldn't a horse starting in his first stakes race win a Triple Crown event? Just about everything else has happened in the world's most famous series of races.

Stage Door Johnny staged a wing-ding of a windup to the wildest Triple Crown series in history by winning the 100th running of the Belmont Stakes Saturday at Belmont Park.

The Greentree Stable colt, whose only two previous victories were in a maiden race and an allowance test, caught Forward Pass with one-eighth of a mile to go and beat him to the wire by 1 1/4 lengths.

Thus ended a Triple Crown series that unfolded like the plot of a grade B movie.

Dancer's Image charged home first in the Kentucky Derby by only to become the victim of the first disqualification in the 94-year history of the race when a post-race test disclosed an illegal medication in his system.

Calumet Farm's Forward Pass was moved to first by the disqualification and became eligible to be the ninth Triple Crown winner and first since Citation in 1948.

Forward Pass romped home in the Preakness but he had to share the headlines with Dancer's Image. This time Peter Fuller's colt became the first to be disqualified in 93 Preakness runnings, being set down from third to eighth for interfering with two horses in the stretch.

Next came the Belmont, and this time Dancer's Image was out of the picture—the gimp-ankled colt was retired to stud four days before the race.

With Heliodoro Gustines rating him perfectly, Stage Door Johnny was lying an easy third after the first mile of the 1 1/2-mile grind.

Turning for home, Gustines asked Stage Door Johnny to move and he responded by flying past Forward Pass, who had led from the start, with a sizzling final quarter-mile drive in 24 4-5 seconds.

"He's a runner, he likes to run," Gustines said after Stage Door Johnny ran home in 2:27 1-5, second only to Gallan Man's stakes and track record of 2:26 3-5 in 1957.

Forward Pass was 12 lengths ahead of Mrs. Adele Rand's tiring Call Me Prince who saved the show by five lengths over Robert J. Kleberg's Draft Card. The latter two are trained by 87-year-old Max Hirsch who was bidding for his fifth Belmont victory.

Following Draft Card were Ardoise, Chompton, Sir Beau, T.V. Commercial and Jade Amicol.

Stage Door Johnny, finished second in his only two starts as a 2-year-old and then spent the winter at Aiken, S.C.

The son of Prince John-Peroxide Blonde returned to the races April 17 when he finished third in a maiden race. He then won his first race May 8, followed with a victory in an allowance race and gave trainer John Gave his third Belmont victory Saturday.

Stage Door Johnny made things very green—$117,700 worth—for John Hay Whitney and Mrs. Joan Payson, the owners of Greentree Stable, by winning the Belmont. He also rewarded his backers with a $10.80 winning mutual payoff.

Tiger Tales

DETROIT (AP) — Notes & Quotes:

Mickey Stanley scored from first base on Jim Northrup's double to cap a three-run Detroit rally in the sixth inning of the opener. Mickey Mantle cut off the throw from right field which probably would have caught Stanley at the plate.

"There was a lot of crowd noise and Mantle probably thought Stanley would stop at third," said Ralph Houk, the Yankee manager.

Stanley, asked if he was trying to force the play, said: "I just took off, head down. I could force myself right out of the lineup on that kind of running."

Willie Horton sat out the second game of the doubleheader after his 14-game hitting streak was stopped by Yankee pitchers in the opener.

"Willie's heel is bothering him, and I gave him a rest," said Manager Mayo Smith. "I may do that in doubleheaders."

Shortstop Ray Oyler, who had a great day in the field, went zero for seven at the plate to drop his batting average to .154.

Someone said: "Detroit may be the first team in history to win the pennant with a short-stop hitting .120."

"What makes you think he'll be hitting that high?" said Norm Cash.

Eddie Mathews said his sore back is back in shape and Don Wert, who sat out the doubleheader with a strained back muscle, said he hoped to be ready for the Boston series.

"I haven't made up my mind about Wert," said Smith.

Dick Tracowski filled in for Wert, getting one hit in five trips.

Wayne Comer, called up from Toledo to fill in for Al Kaline, had one hit in four trips in the nightcap and made two good catches in left field in the nightcap.

"I started one game at the end of last season," said Comer. "But this was my first complete game. The wind was tough out there."

17 - What The Grip Can Do

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

People think that once a golfer attains professional status, he acquires some kind of divine inspiration and his game automatically jells. I have the same problems as an 80-shooter. And that's why I must keep reverting to fundamentals in analyzing my game.

Start with the grip. My left hand gets much too strong at various times. I have to fight it continually. The left hand moves too far to the right on the club, I have to keep the thumb more on top, or to the left.

So I'm continually checking my grip, especially when I get into what I call my over-the-top hooking game.

All my life, until three years ago, I was a relatively weak guy who was never able to hit the ball far enough. That's how I developed a strong left-hand grip. It gives you a more powerful shot off the club, but it also comes off driving with a hook. Subconsciously, as a kid, I fell into this habit to get more distance off the tee.

Now a guy like Nicklaus, he never had to—he could afford to keep his hands on top—because he had the strength. He doesn't need a strong grip. Jack is different in one re-

Card of Thanks

Greis

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of my friends and relatives who sent flowers, cards, gifts and visited me during my stay at St. Francis Hospital. I would also like to thank the nursing staff and aids for their friendliness and Father Rousseau for his daily visits. These acts of kindness will always be remembered.

Taxpayers Fight New Post Office

JAMESTOWN, Colo. (AP) — Residents of this small northern Colorado mountain town may get a new $14,000 post office—whether they want it or not.

Protesting citizens claim they don't want a new post office. They say the one they have—in the corner of a general store—will do just fine with some renovation. They say they want to cut federal spending.

"We want to plan for the future," says a Post Office Department spokesman. "We don't want a third class post office in the corner of a general store."

"These people are taxpayers fed up with the waste of money," said their attorney, William Wise of Boulder, as he disclosed plans to seek an injunction against construction.

"This is a waste of money. The facility is not needed. It will be fought and it will be fought all the way."

The citizens group, Voters Opposing Indiscriminate Civic Expenditures (VOICE), says the project also might force storekeeper-postmaster Donald Haynes to close the only general store in this community of about

Girl Scouts To Organize In Powers Area

On May 9th, Mrs. Bissell, a member of the National Field Staff of the Chicago Branch Office of Girl Scouts, met with interested members of the Hermansville-Powers area, at Hermansville. Local co-ordinator for the event was Mrs. John Adams.

Mrs. Bissell explained the basic framework and goals of scouting to those in attendance. Each troop needs two leaders and three or five committee women. It is desirable, though not necessary, that a community group be found to sponsor each group.

Mrs. Bissell will return Sept. 16 and 17 to train leaders. She plans to spend one evening in each community.

Mrs. John Adams is serving as local organizer for the Hermansville area. To date, six women have been found to fill the leadership posts for one troop. Six more women are needed to take care of the needs of a second group.

The goal is to have one Brownie troop for grades 2 and 3, and one Junior group, which takes in girls in 4-6 grades.

Interest has been shown in Powers, but no one has offered to organize the troops. Anyone interested in assisting in any phase of this program may get in touch with Mrs. John Adams of Hermansville, or the Vista Workers.

Super-Dry does both!

Keeps you dry even if you over-sweat!

Now you can forget perspiration rings, forget odor—even in hot weather—even when you're tense. Super-Dry has two powerful moisture controlling ingredients—buffered for gentleness. No other deodorant has both combined full strength this way. Super-Dry is only $3.00 for a 3-4 month supply.
